

As a commuter into the Washington, D.C. area up-to-the-minute traffic and weather information is very helpful in avoiding/preparing for delays. Unlike the local radio stations in the area which broadcast weather and traffic information only occasionally, or at best, at ten minute intervals XM transmits this information continually. Please support XM's continued offering of this great service. David Lane